Unity House Plans Large Building Program

Construction Costs Set At One Million

A million-dollar building program has been drawn up for Unity House, the resort maintained near Bushkill by the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

THIS IS AN ARTIST'S CONCEPTION of the new "guest house" to be built this winter at Unity House. Architects for the building are Rinker and Kiefer, Stroudsburg. Construction work on the guest house is expected to begin in mid-September.

No date has been set for work on the theater. Plans are now being completed for the building, Murrell R. Kiefer said last night.

The guest house will replace two old buildings at Unity House, Taxin said. Both old buildings were erected prior to 1900, during the early years of the resort's existence.

Plans call for 48 private bedrooms, each complete with private bath and "sliding-door" closets, furnished in a style in keeping with other Unity House dormitories.

It will be built in a "Z-shape" to take advantage of the location's natural surroundings, Kiefer said. A frame structure, the building will make use of modern construction improvements for maximum comfort and utility.

In an effort to cut down sound reproduction, usually unavoidable in wooden structures, the architects have called for installation of acoustical ceilings in all hallways throughout the building.

For a similar reason, Kiefer said, a new solid-plastic carpeting on a base of sponge rubber will be used on hall floors.

The guest building will be "completely heated and insulated," Mr. Taxin said. Privacy is the keynote throughout.

Officials at the resort and the architects, hope that the guest house will be ready for occupancy at the start of the 1954 vacation season.

Whether the theater will reach the "work" stage this year depends largely on completion of the plans and weather conditions locally.

The theater will consist of one floor only, with no overhang or balcony. Its floor plan follows the general contour of the land on which it will be built. This construction scheme permits the installation of auditorium seats at elevated positions from front to rear of the building, Taxin said.

A full-size lobby is included in the preliminary plans. Large workshops for construction of scenery, storage rooms, dressing rooms and costume enclosures are also included, Kiefer said.

Although present plans call for 1,100 seats in the auditorium, the seating capacity may be enlarged, according to Taxin.

A major portion of the planning for the theater will go into construction of its stage. Unity House has become famous throughout the entertainment world for its importation of Broadway musicals almost intact, with original sets, costumes and members of the playing cast.

Fine Signs Subsidy Bill

Harrisburg, (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine yesterday signed into law a bill designed to save the commonwealth an estimated $1,000,000 a biennium in school subsidies.

The new law eliminates double reimbursement in cases where kindergarten teachers handle two classes per day.

Formerly all subsidies were paid on the number of eaching units—including kindergarten classes. This meant a school district could collect twice when teachers conducted two different classes.

Under the new law, kindergarten teachers are not limited in the number of classes they handle but reimbursement to the district will be made on the number of teachers only.

Other bills signed yesterday by Fine would:

Permit the assessment for real estate taxation of trailers used as residences and permanently attached to the ground.

Lower the minimum age for examination of licensed nursing attendants from 21 to 19.

Authorize Pennsylvania to enter into a compact with other eastern states for mutual protection against the forest fire hazard.

Authorize the State Aeronautics Commission to spend state funds for Civil Air Patrol aviation education training aids and maintenance of Civil Air Patrol aircraft.

Senator Taft's Condition Is Slightly Better

New York, (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, rallying after Tuesday's turn for the worse, had a better day yesterday, New York Hospital reported last night.

A 6 p. m. bulletin from the hospital read:

"Senator Taft had a better day today than yesterday. There has been no change in his condition since this morning."

An earlier bulletin, signed by Dr. Charles E. Forkner, had reported:

"Senator Taft had a more restful night. This morning at 8:30 he requested breakfast and ate it with relish. He is having no pain and his condition is somewhat improved."

The Ohio Republican was operated on July 8 after he suffered a hip lesion. The exact nature of his illness has not been made public.

Soviets Charge U. S. Horsemeat Given To Germans

Berlin, (AP)—The Soviet zone news agency ADN claimed last night that "U. S. Army horsemeat" is being handed out to East Germans in the Western relief program.

"The recipients could hardly believe their eyes when they discovered what the 'generous' Americans had given them," ADN asserted.

"The horsemeat comes from U. S. Army supplies for Medical Corps dogs and was given out Tuesday at various points in West Berlin."

An American official commented:

"Some ADN propagandist has gone crazy."

$34 Billion Defense Bill Sent To Ike

Washington, (AP)—Speeding toward a weekend adjournment, Congress stamped its approval yesterday on the year's biggest money bill, which provides more than $34 billion dollars to run the Defense Department in the fiscal year ending next June 30.

The defense budget, which stirred up a storm of protest when it was first proposed, was passed quietly by both houses with no further attacks on the administration move chopping five billion dollars from Air Force funds recommended by former President Harry S. Truman.

As it finally cleared Congress, the defense bill called for $34,371,541,000 in new money for the present fiscal year. Truman had asked $40,719,931,000 and Eisenhower $35,771,563,000.

The House cleared the bill by voice vote and with no debate. But for a time a snag threatened to crop up in the Senate over a compromise dealing with the award of defense contracts in areas hit by unemployment.

Under the present law, the government may aid such areas by awarding contracts to bidders who do not submit the lowest offer. This provision was aimed at bolstering employment.

The Senate voted to knock out that provision but Senate-House conferees agreed on a compromise under which a contractor in an area with a labor surplus may win an award meeting the terms of the law bid even though he, himself, originally submitted a higher bid.

Express Agency Given Rate Hike

Washington (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday authorized the Railway Express Agency to increase its rates an average of 15 per cent. The rise is expected to bring the agency about 55 million dollars a year.

The express agency had asked an average increase of about 23.5 per cent.

200,000 East Germans Defy Reds, Accept Free West Food

Berlin, (AP)—All German relief records were shattered as 200,000 Eastern newly defied Communist police terror and lined up at 50 distribution points for free Western food in West Berlin yesterday. Each day the total rises. In all, 450,000 food packages have been distributed to poverty-stricken East Germans this week.

Arrests, confiscations, radio threats and scare leaflets were brushed aside in the trek across the Soviet sector border.

The 15 million dollars worth of foodstuffs donated by the United States for East German relief—and scornfully rejected by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov—will be given out here to 12 million needy in 60 days if the present rate can be sustained, relief officials said.

All over the Soviet zone, the food rush snowballed. Every East German returning to a home town in the provinces with arms loaded with Western fats, flour and other rare treasures was a signal for more to set out for Berlin.

Red police arrested scores of food-laden East Germans in the Soviet sector of the city. At least some were freed later. The police took away the identity cards of many more. The threat of trial as a Western spy shadowed each of the hungry.

But the food rush grew beyond all expectations. If the vast project can be completed, it will have provided something for two out of every three persons in the Soviet zone's 18 million population.

With thousands of tons of American food already across the Atlantic, the Bonn government established a food "air bridge" to Berlin yesterday. A regular Pan American airliner brought in 4,400 pounds from Hamburg. More air cargoes will follow.

Temperature Dips To 'Cooling' 104

Tehran, Iran (AP)—An 11-day heatwave in Southern Iran that has taken a death toll placed unofficially at 158 eased somewhat yesterday. The thermometer dropped from Tuesday's high of 120 degrees in the shade to a comparatively cool 104.

Newspapers reported the high temperature in the sun was 181 degrees Tuesday and 158 yesterday.

Ike May Request Debt Limit Boost

Washington (AP)—A storm blew up on Capitol Hill last night over reports that President Eisenhower may ask Congress to boost the present 275 billion dollar limit on the federal debt by as much as 25 billion dollars.

Eisenhower invited key congressional leaders of both parties and his own top-level financial aides to attend a White House breakfast conference today at which the debt limit is expected to be a prime topic.

On the Senate floor, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) hotly opposed any increase on the ground that it would be "a grave mistake... an invitation to extravagance."

Political Chaos Seen

Rome (AP)—Italy headed last night toward possible political chaos in the wake of the downfall of Alcide De Gasperi's eighth government.

Reds Reject Speedup Of Prisoner Swap

Munsan, Thursday (AP)—United Nations members of the Military Armistice Commission told the Communists yesterday to back up charges of eight Allied violations of the three-day-old Korean truce.

The commission called its third meeting in as many days today in the weathered truce conference hut at Panmunjom.

The Reds seized the initiative Wednesday by lodging the first complaint of a truce violation. The U. N. Command was charged with three unauthorized flights over the demilitarized buffer zone, and firing 11 artillery rounds and a burst of machinegun bullets.

The Reds claimed three violations Monday night and five on Tuesday.

Maj. Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, senior Allied commissioner, promptly called for additional information. He discussed the complaint as "nothing serious."

Bryan disclosed that the Allies sought to speed up the exchange of more than 86,000 prisoners of war, including 3,313 Americans, by three days.

The Reds turned down the U. N. request which would have started the prisoners homeward through Freedom Village on Sunday, instead of next Wednesday.

Gen. Lee Sang Cho, Red Korean truce commissioner, said the Communists could not be ready that soon.

However, Allied and Communist Red Cross leaders were meeting in Panmunjom today to coordinate plans for inspection of prisoner camps in both North and South Korea.

The inspections begin as soon as the plans are completed. Allied Red Cross organizations were refused permission to see Red prisoner stockades throughout the war.

Neutral truce supervisors from Sweden and Switzerland, nominated by the Allied side, were in Munsan ready to meet with their counterparts from Poland and Czechoslovakia. Maj. Gen. Sven Grafstrom of Sweden said he expected the joint teams to be ready to go to work quickly.

Operating under the commission, the supervisors will watch ports of entry and airports in both North and South Korea to guard against buildups of troops or supplies that might threaten the truce.

By 10 tonight (9 a. m. Thursday, EDT), opposing armies were to complete the pullback from the battlefield. They will leave a buffer zone 2½ miles wide winding 150 miles through abandoned hills and valleys once drenched in blood.

Britain Eyes China Trade

London, (AP)—Britain pledged yesterday to help keep Red China out of the United Nations, for the time being at least, but served notice she is moving back into the lush China market.

In the teeth of pressure from the opposition Labor party, acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler and acting Foreign Secretary Lord Salisbury declared in Parliament:

"One—Red China's claims for representation in the U. N. must wait until the Korean peace conference opens.

Two—Britain will continue to respect international embargoes on the export of war-potential goods to Red China, which she recognizes.

Three—This country deems it right and proper to go on developing non-strategic trade with the Peking regime.

Wyman Has Edge For Tobey Post

Washington (AP)—Louis E. Wyman, 74-year-old Manchester, N. H., lawyer, was reported under consideration yesterday for appointment to fill the Senate vacancy created by the death of Sen. Tobey (R-NH).

The possible appointment of Wyman was reported to depend largely on the decision of Gov. Hugh Gregg of New Hampshire on whether he wants to run for Tobey's seat in the next general election.

Wyman, who successfully defended Dr. Hermann M. Sander in 1950 against the charge of killing an incurably ill cancer patient by pumping air into the veins, is understood to be agreeable to serving only until the election.

Trestle Collapses

Monessen, (AP)—A group of workers, sitting under a trestle to eat lunch at the Pittsburgh Steel Co. plant, were caught underneath tons of limestone yesterday as a trestle collapsed. Two men were killed, another is missing and 13 were injured.

American B-50 Lost In Flight Over Japan Sea

Tokyo, Thursday, (AP)—The Air Force said today an American B50 bomber was lost over the Japan Sea yesterday on a routine training mission.

A B50, propeller-driven 4-engine bomber similar to a B29, normally carries a crew of 10.

The Air Force announcement said a search plane was believed to have sighted crewmen of the lost plane in the water yesterday afternoon.

The search plane, a B29, dropped a boat in the fog-shrouded area.

Several search planes, B29s, were scouring the area today. Navy ships also were sent to the scene.

Toll Of War Casualties Stands At 14

Two Monroe County servicemen not listed in yesterday's unofficial report on the number of local men killed during the Korean War have boosted the toll to 14.

Not reported were Arthur Smickley and Pfo, Richard Adams.

Smickley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Smickley, Stroudsburg, entered the Marines in August 1949, was sent to Korea a year later. He was wounded Dec. 1, 1950, then killed in action the following day during the tragic UN retreat.

Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Adams, Saylorsburg, joined the Army in July 1943, was sent to Korea in August 1950. He was killed in action there Sept. 14, 1950.

In addition, three county servicemen have been reported missing in action.

140,546 Battle Losses Listed By U. S. Forces

Washington (AP)—Announced U. S. battle casualties reached 140,546 yesterday in the Korean fighting that ended Monday morning.

All of the 1,274 added to the total since last week were killed, wounded, or declared missing before last Friday midnight.

Although the last shot was fired in the Far East Monday morning (U. S. time) American families will be receiving casualty notices throughout this week, as the process of reporting, checking, and notification takes up to five days—occasionally longer.

Latest figures show 22,339 Americans were killed in action, 104,698 wounded and 13,489 are missing.

Churchill Still Wants Meeting Of Big Four Heads

London (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill made clear yesterday he still wants a conference of the Big Four heads of state, but will settle for a foreign ministers meeting first.

Acting Foreign Minister Lord Salisbury told the House of Lords that Churchill thinks the recent proposal of the United States, France and Britain for a meeting with Russia on the foreign ministers' level is "in the circumstances... the best result possible."

He denied there was any disagreement between the ailing Prime Minister and his advisers on this policy, as charged by some Laborites. And he said Britain is in full agreement with the United States and France on a common approach to Russia.

Bill Provides $4.5 Billions In New Money

Washington (AP)—The Senate gave President Eisenhower a major round in the foreign aid fight last night as it refused to slash 548 million dollars out of the program designed to bolster foreign nations against Communism.

That left the big fund at $6,745,318,202, including new cash and uncontracted money left over from old appropriations.

The chamber, after a tide of impassioned oratory before packed galleries, rejected 53-35 a motion by Sen. Long (D-La.) to slice the program for the current fiscal year by more than half a billion. This would have brought it down to the figure which the House had voted over Eisenhower's protest.

The vote on the Long amendment found 27 Republicans and 26 Democrats lining up to defeat the cut, which was supported by 17 Republicans, 17 Democrats and 1 Independent.

Action on the bill was not completed, however, and Senate leaders drove on toward what they hoped would be a final vote in a late night session.

The names of Eisenhower and the ailing Sen. Taft of Ohio were invoked in the debate. Long said Taft, now on a sick bed in New York, had declared the public was tired of the heavy foreign aid spending.

"That might be one of the last—one of the most important statements he has made," Long said.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) arose to support Long's amendment, saying that each year Congress hears the same old story—that any cut "would wreck our security."

"It's the same old scare come-on," McClellan shouted. "I'd rather see 2,500 or 5,000 more trained pilots in America or 200 more bombers. We would get more security out of them."

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said Eisenhower had cut 2½ billion out of former President Truman's foreign aid requests and "has been down in the big house at 1600 Pennsylvania only 180 days."

Dirksen said Democrats already are trying to blame Eisenhower for the big deficit and many other things.

"Eisenhower didn't create these problems," he said, pointing a finger at the Democrats. "He inherited them from your President."

"He richly merits the money in this bill. He has stopped the grisly slaying in Korea and, with this money perhaps he can prevent the same thing in the rest of the world."

The bill as it went before the Senate last night totaled $6,745,318,202. Of this $4,562,533,811 was new cash while the rest was uncontracted funds left over from previous appropriations. The $6,745,318,202 was still some half billion dollars less than Eisenhower originally requested but about half a billion more than the House voted.

GG Credited With Stemming Polio Epidemic

Albany, N. Y., (AP) — The State Health Department yesterday tentatively credited "Operation Lollipop," a mass gamma globulin inoculation of 37,125 children with cutting sharply into a polio epidemic in two upstate counties.

The epidemic in Steuben and Chemung counties has boosted the number of new polio cases this year to 90 per cent above comparative 1952 totals.

Dr. Milton Tully, Hornell district health officer, declared that the mass injections given July 11-13 to children between the ages of six months and 10 years had caused a "sizeable reduction" in the number of new cases reported in the two counties.

But the epidemic appeared to be continuing among older groups that were not inoculated with the human-blood derivative.

Dr. Robert F. Korn, head of the department's bureau of epidemiology and communicable disease control, said that if a person were already infected at the time of injection, the gamma globulin would not prevent polio although it would modify the paralysis effects.

For those not infected, Dr. Korn said, an apparent preventive effect had been reached, cutting one to five weeks after the beginning.

The effects of gamma globulin disappear after about five weeks, Dr. Korn said. He declared that gamma globulin was not a cure, and was only an emergency stop-gap measure to be used until research turned up a vaccine that would have long-time benefits.

Dr. Tully said approximately three-fourths of the cases before the mass shots were given had occurred in the under-10 age group. Of new cases reported since the inoculation, he said, only one-third were in this age group.

The Health Department said 309 new cases had been reported in the 57 counties outside New York City between Jan. 1 and last Monday, compared with 209 for the corresponding period a year ago.

The total was 148 or 55 per cent higher than the total on the preceding Monday.

Department figures as of Monday showed 112 cases in the epidemic area since Jan. 1. Of these, 67 were in Steuben and 45 in Chemung. The July 20 total was 89 for the two counties.

Dr. Tully said yesterday his figures were 120 for the bi-county area, 74 in Steuben and 45 in Chemung.

Eleven deaths have been reported outside New York City in 1953. Of these, five occurred in Steuben and one in Chemung.

G. M. Sales Hit Record Level

New York, (AP) — General Motors Corp. sold 1,120,276 cars and trucks in the second quarter of this year to hit the highest level in the company's history, stockholders were told yesterday.

Net income for the quarter was $161,583,911 equivalent to $1.81 a common share after payment of $323,078 in preferred dividends. This compared with net income of $142,024,825 or $1.59 a share after a like amount in preferred dividends for the second quarter of last year.

Democrats Outline Program For September Conference

Chicago, (AP) — Democratic leaders will meet in Chicago in September to have a look at the Eisenhower administration's record and their own plans for the 1954 congressional elections.

Stephen A. Mitchell, the party's national chairman, yesterday outlined the program for the rally Sept. 11 and 12.

"We hope to sum up a little on the Republican performance and to make clear our own position," he stated at a news conference.

A typewritten listing of events included this note on the growing size of the gathering:

"Originally the plan was to hold a Midwest conference but, in discussing plans with party leaders, such tremendous interest was shown by leaders in other parts of the nation that it was determined to include party leaders and officials from all over the country."

Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee for president last year will take part in the round of parleys and will be the featured speaker, too.

Mitchell said he hoped ex-president Harry S. Truman and former vice president Alben Barkley will attend.

Listed as "fair" are: Mrs. Catherine Powers, 70, Port Jervis; Linda Pohank, 4, sister of the dead girl; and John Moriarity, 9, Shenorock.

Milford State police said the accident occurred when a car occupied by the two young men tried to pass one driven by Mrs. Powers. The first car crashed head-on into an oncoming auto occupied by two women and three children.

Redistricting Bill Signed By Governor

Harrisburg, (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine yesterday signed a new House reapportionment law, the first in Pennsylvania in 32 years.

Membership in the chamber will go up from 208 to 210 under the plan, with nine counties gaining representation and eight losing.

"This bill meets a long-needed reapportionment under the state Constitution," Fine said in a statement. "It fulfills a Republican party platform promise."

The 30-member Senate, however, failed to redistrict its boundaries. The measure died in Senate committee.

Delaware would gain three seats under the law and Philadelphia would lose two.

One additional seat will go to each of Allegheny, Bucks, Crawford, Cumberland, Lebanon, Lehigh, Montgomery and York counties.

State Grant Will Permit Expansion Of Borough Sewage Plant

Line To Be Extended To W. Main St.

A bill appropriating $55,000 to pay cost of improvements to the sewage treatment system in Stroudsburg utilized by the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College clears the way for modernization of the local treatment works and extension of sanitary sewers throughout West Stroudsburg.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. John S. Shotwell (R-Monroe), now awaits the signature of Gov. John S. Fine. It is one of six similar measures, all involving sewage disposal systems of State Teachers Colleges.

The Stroudsburg treatment works, built back around 1936, has needed modernization to carry the heavier load brought about by changing conditions and expansion at the college as well as that area of Stroudsburg with sanitary sewers.

The borough had planned to install sanitary sewer lines when they were built in South Stroudsburg, but Department of Health officials advised the borough they could not add to the disposal load at the treatment works until the plant was modernized to handle the existing load and the proposed additional load in West Stroudsburg.

Council had a number of conferences with Department of Public Instruction and Department of Property and Supplies officials during the past few years. It was agreed that the $55,000 allocation be made. Because of a current lack of funds in both departments at that time, the allocation had to be legislated.

The House, where the bill originated, gave its approval by a 203-1 margin and the Senate gave it unanimous approval.

The fund goes to the Department of Property and Supplies to help pay costs of the improvements and for the commonwealth's share of expenses incurred by the borough of Stroudsburg in connection with the job.

Council is expected to move on setting up the remainder of the financing, some $55,000 for plant improvements and about $50,000 to $75,000 for the W. Main St. sewer lines at a meeting on August 5.

At the same time it is expected steps will be taken to get bids for both projects.

Buildings To Be Erected

ation will be given to modern lighting equipment and other theatrical improvements making the presentation of New York-designed shows more feasible and more professional in the resort theater.

One important feature of the theater building will be a provision for installation of a motion picture screen for the showing of three-dimensional movies.

Since most current 3-D experiments in Hollywood call for a screen considerably wider than it is high, the Unity House stage will be made large enough (50 by 20 feet) to accommodate CinemaScope, Natural Vision, Panamatic projection or any other development which might emerge, Kiefer said.

No definite decision has been reached on the type of material to be used in the theater's construction, the architect continued. The building will be fire-resistant throughout, in accordance with State laws, however.

The theater is to be erected adjacent to the dining hall at the resort, on a slope facing toward the lake there.

Present plans call for a building approximately 100 feet by 160 feet, including the stage. Direct down-lighting will be used in the auditorium proper with "concealed atmospheric lighting" in use during productions on stage.

Cost of the theater was estimated by Taxin at "around $700,000" while the guest house is expected to require $250,000 to build.

Erection of the two new buildings will complete plans to replace all old structures at the resort, Taxin said. Unity House completed its last major construction job in 1947 when a dormitory was erected near the administration building.

NEARING COMPLETION is this new elementary school building for Hamilton Township pupils on Route 12 one-half mile south of Sciota. It replaces eight one-room schoolhouses which have served the district since its beginning. Good news for school directors last night was the report from Harrisburg that Senate Bill 13, which would have cut off State payment for closed one-room schools, had been, in effect, killed. Hamilton board hopes the school will be ready for occupancy by opening of the Fall school term.

School Bills Affecting Monroe Districts Run Into Opposition In General Assembly

Amendments and opposition cut the shadow of two bills which threatened a loss of revenue to Monroe County school districts this week.

Senate Bill 13, which destroyed State payment to school districts for closed schools, met opposition in the House. It was sent back to committee.

House Bill 1348 hit rough sledding after it was sent to the upper chamber.

Originally the bill had set up two major provisions:

One—To cut off State reimbursement to districts for purchase of furniture;

Two—To require a vote by the electorate before school districts would be allowed to erect a building where value was more than five per cent of the total market value.

As it finally emerged from the Senate, House Bill 1348 still does away with State part-payment for furniture costs.

Its second provision, however, has been completely amended from existence, according to P. O. Van Ness, president of the Pennsylvania School Directors Association in Harrisburg.

Both provisions would directly affect Pleasant Valley Joint School Board. Pleasant Valley is now considering erection of a secondary school building with a value considerably more than five per cent of its districts' combined market values.

As the bill now stands—if it is signed into law by the Governor—Pleasant Valley will lose an estimated $25,000 to $30,000 on furniture reimbursements from State.

No site has been selected for the Pleasant Valley School. No contract has been signed by the district with the State School Building Authority.

Senate Bill 13 would have affected several county school districts. These districts have closed down one or two-room school houses to make way for consolidation.

By cutting off annual State payments for the closed schools, the bill would have eliminated a revenue source which some smaller districts have relied on in the past to meet increased school operation costs.

According to Van Ness major opposition to the bill developed among representatives from rural areas where school consolidation is now in progress.

Hardest potential blow from Bill 13 would have been suffered by Hamilton township where eight small schools were closed this year in preparation for opening of the

City Trees

A man we can agree with wholeheartedly is Peter J. Cascio, president of the American Assn. of Nurserymen, who was in New York recently to attend a convention of the organization he heads.

Mr. Cascio took a stroll along some of New York's most famous streets and came back sweating and talking about how much better off New York would be with trees along the streets.

"Planting would be a fine investment for stores on New York streets," he said. "If there were trees along sidewalks, people would linger and look at store windows instead of trudging along under a blazing sun. Where there are shops there should also be trees."

Sounds like excellent advice for the Stroudsburgs. There are some glaring wide-open spaces on Main St., Stroudsburg, which should have some trees. The same can be said of Crystal, South Courtland and a portion of Washington streets in East Stroudsburg.

We can also endorse the objective of the Nurserymen's Assn. as defined by Mr. Cascio. It is:

"Our association works on the premise that land is our most precious heritage and that trees belong on the earth. From forests come lumber, paper, water for the land and for our cities. We are interested in all phases of planting, from reforestation to trees in our streets, parks, at schools and churches, in private gardens and right down to the pot of geraniums on a windowsill."

Apology Essential

Until now it has been the custom of Pennsylvanians and Californians to live at peace with each other, especially since they are virtually a nation-wide distance apart, but this happy condition seems destined for oblivion.

Pennsylvania, as you are aware, yields to no state in its pride for the famous animal, the groundhog. Year after year, with seldom a minor margin in error, the groundhog has emerged at the appropriate time after winter hibernation to give all and sundry the proper advice on the weather probabilities.

For this otherwise unrewarded task, the Pennsylvania groundhog has been extolled in song and story, with the Quarryville Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs and our own West End Grundsow Lodge always most active in this program.

But comes now the state of sunny California to admit, with callous disregard for the feelings of Pennsylvania, that it has put to death a pair of groundhogs shipped to the Los Angeles Zoo from our commonwealth. This deed most foul has been shrugged off by the Californians with some loose talk about "varmints" and their crop-destroying tendencies.

We cannot accept any such phoney excuses from our former friends of the West Coast. We in Pennsylvania know that the Californians are afraid our groundhogs will reveal the truth about their weather. Undoubtedly investigation will show the murder was instigated by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Let our United States Senators arise in their place to demand explanation and apology from those who represent California. If Senator Knowland is too busy pinch-hitting for Senator Taft, let Vice President Nixon be queried. The situation is critical and requires prompt action.

The Once Over

EMIL VIEWS THE ARMISTICE

Dear Babe:

Well at last there's an armistice. It could be just a switch to bigger "rents" with more seating capacity and more modern voice throwing equipment, but I hope not. Still an armistice can keep a guy at the front longer than war can these days.

All the same it is great to have the shooting over and not to care who is on some rockpile and who ain't. If I never go up one side of a mountain and down the other again it will be too soon.

I don't know how the war came out, but Sergeant Mooney says the U.N. broke even on steep hills and finished a little ahead of the enemy on rocky caves and precipices. I think the Commies were as anxious as we to call time out as this had become the kind of war in which neither side could come up with the right answer to the plain question, "Who's ahead?" even for Groucho Marx and a $1,000 jackpot. If there was ever a war in which it was hard to feel noble and heroic this was it. It got started as a police action but I never met no G.I. who planned to join the Policeman's Benefit League instead of the American Legion when he got home from Korea. Me and all the others in this shindig did the very best we could and it was no picnic. I am sorry things didn't turn out better for the South Koreans. They went through hell and deserved a better break. You can't see the blind and crippled kids and the starving old folks over here without wishing we could of shoved the Commies back behind their own goal posts but the whole global problem is too deep for me. All I know is it is a week since I fought anybody for the right to sleep outdoors on a rocky hill and I feel rested for the first time in a couple of years. We all want to get home, but we are not counting on being at Coney Island or in the Rosy lobby soon. Sergeant Mooney says I can expect to be kept over in Korea guarding electric iceboxes, TV sets, fancy kitchen gadgets, deep-freeze units and blueprints which will be used to rehabilitate South Korea. A big force of G.I.'s may be needed to see that the Commies don't capture the bulldozers, derricks, steam shovels and leasable architects.

It will be a break if my homecoming gets on the agenda before I have long white whiskers. My bet is that the Russians will make the peace talks more brutal than the Battle of the Bulge. So knit me a sweater for the winters of 1954 and 1955 just in case.

Love and kisses, EMIL.

New York restaurants have offered to take the subway tokens in payment for food. Especially if you order braised ribs with squash. . . . Jim Farley has been named with Herbert Hoover to perform a plan for government reorganization. . . . This is a victory for "cokes," world peace, better understandings and effective soft drink jingles. . . . The Commies have placed men within the New York Police Department, it is now known, but you can bet your shirt that "The Volga Boatman" will never replace "Rose O'Grady" at the policemen's hall. . . . You can be fined $50 or sent to jail for fifty days now for appearing in a New York park in any attire which fails to cover the body from the shoulders to a point midway between the hips and knees. . . . If you wanna dress like that go to video where you belong! . . . Mayor "Beauchamp" Vanderbil favorite, lost the Saranac Handicap because he couldn't get through the flotsam and jetsam. . . . "First Aid," the winner, carried bandages, obviously. . . . Senator Charles Tobey, who died the other day, had his faults, but he was a stand-out as an old-fashioned American who had a genuine sense of indignation and the courage to express it. . . . Frank Hague, former boss of Jersey politics, has leased a home in Beverly Hills. . . . After what happened to him in Jersey politics he might qualify as an extra in the big "western" scene where the cowboys are routed by the Indians. . . . Red China is playing the game with "truces wild." . . . President Syngman Rhee is in the position of the patient told by the dentist, "This is going to hurt you. Just relax." . . . Our idea of gullibility is taking the Saratoga-at-Jamaica race meeting so seriously you go to Jamaica for the baths.

BIG ONE CONFERENCE

Robert S. Allen Reports

Ike To Establish "Little" FEPC By Executive Order

Washington — President Eisenhower will establish a "little" FEPC.

He will do this by an executive order that will ban racial discrimination on all work done under government contract.

The edict will be issued after Congress adjourns.

That's what the President told Republican legislative leaders at his weekly conference with them. He stated the executive order has already been drafted by the Justice Department and needs only his signature to become effective. The GOP chiefs heartily approved his plan.

The President also informed them Vice-President Nixon will head the commission that will supervise enforcement of the new system. Other members will be prominent church, labor and negro leaders.

The late President Roosevelt set up the first FEPC by executive order in 1941.

In 1943 it was broadened and strengthened by another executive order, that included "all employers engaged in the production of war materials whether or not they have contracts directly with the federal government." It also covered "all war training programs financed with federal funds, even though operated by private educational institutions."

All these bans were wiped out in 1944 by an amendment that Senator Richard Russell (D. Ga.) attached to the Independent Offices appropriation bill. The provision terminated agencies for which Congress had not specifically voted funds. The effect of the rider was to junk the New Deal FEPC.

A number of bills were introduced to re-create it by law, but they got nowhere. President Truman sent a special message to Congress in 1946 recommending such legislation, but nothing came of the matter.

Secret build-up — The last thing the Reds did before the armistice went into effect, was to rush more than 40,000 Chinese troops across the Yalu River into North Korea.

Also, 50 MIG jets were hastily secreted on widely dispersed landing strips. These crafty last-minute moves did two things: They greatly strengthened Communist fighting forces on the ground and for the first time gave them a formidable air force in North Korea. In the event the war flares up again both factors would be of major moment.

Under the truce, neither side can increase its military strength. A total of 35,000 men can be rotated each month, but the overall number cannot be raised. The Communists took care of that by bringing in heavy reinforcements.

before the cease-fire deadline. That was legal, but it is highly indicative of their views regarding likely future developments.

On the basis of the Reds' last minute build-up, their over-all strength in Korea is at an all-time high, an estimated 1,221,000. Of that number, 900,000 are Chinese and 321,000 North Koreans.

Intelligence reports indicate the Reds are also training a number of North Korean divisions in Manchuria. These troops were carefully hoarded in the final weeks of the fighting, very few North Koreans were used in those savage assaults. Obviously, the Reds were conserving their forces for future contingencies, particularly for dealing with the ROK army.

The truce also found UN forces at peak strength with a total of 870,000.

Eight US divisions are now in Korea. They are the 3rd, 7th, 24th, 25th, 40th, 45th Infantry Divisions, 1st Cavalry Division, and the 1st Marine Division. In addition, there are 16 ROK divisions.

Notes: General Mark Clark will continue as Far Eastern commander for the present. . . . The British are urging New Delhi, India, as the site for the post-truce political conference. But the U. S. is firmly against that. Secretary Dulles favors either Tokyo or Geneva. The Communists are reported to have still another choice — UN headquarters in New York. That would be acceptable to the U. S.

He should know Representative George Bender, exuberant Ohio Republican, startled the House by announcing he wanted to thank a colleague for saving him from a pickpocket.

"I want to thank my good friend Representative Leon Gavin (R. Pa.) for keeping me from having my pocket picked while I was shopping in Casablanca last year," explained Bender. "We were both over there and my distinguished colleague warned me that a native was going through my pocket. I want to publicly attest my gratitude to my devoted friend."

As the House applauded, Gavin replied with a broad grin. "It was a pleasure and a privilege to be of service to the distinguished gentleman from Ohio. However, knowing him as well as I do, I must in all candor admit that it is very questionable how much that pickpocket would have gotten if he had succeeded in his robbery."

Bender joined in the laughter.

Mao Tze-Tung's Conquest Of N. Korea To Be Followed By Attack On Burma

George Sokolsky Says . . .

THE EXPANSE OF EMPIRE

In the history of China, vast expanses of non-Chinese territories were conquered. Again, a Chinese empire is being resurrected and the present rulers, like their Russian masters, seek to re-establish their country to the outermost boundaries ever held by the Chinese, even if the countries were taken by force, and even if the claims have lain dormant for centuries.

Recent is the empire of Kublai Khan, the Mongol, who ruled from the Black Sea to the Pacific (1214-1294). The Mongols were not Chinese, but the conquerors of China, and their Yuan dynasty did not last long. Nor were the Mongols absorbed by the Chinese, as we are so often incorrectly told, on the theory that China is a sea that swallows all water.

The Mongols receded, degenerated, and like some animals in the winter, hibernated, until World War I and the Russian revolution stirred Asia to new life. Such peoples as the Mongols, the Uzbeks, the Kazakhs, emerged anew, vigorously asserting themselves. These, of course, Communist China will not attempt to conquer as long as Mao Tze-tung remains a satellite of the Kremlin.

But the remote boundaries of Chienlung (1736-96) be open for conquest and restoration to China. Chienlung was the greatest of the Manchu emperors, representing a race of Tartars who emerged out of Manchuria, conquered China, held Mongolia, established a suzerainty over Korea, Tibet, Burma and Annam (a part of Indo-China) and held for a while Nepal and Bhutan. Then the Manchus degenerated. It is to the boundaries of Chienlung that Mao Tze-tung is pushing and his conquest of North Korea, in a major war against the United States, is the second step in the restoration of this empire. The first was the bloodless conquest of Tibet, over which Great Britain and India also once claimed authority. The third step will be Burma where the only resistance thus far has been a remnant of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists. The Burmese alone cannot withstand the Chinese Communist hordes.

The conquest of these vast areas involves not only "face" but also assures Communist China of a food supply. For the rice of Indo-China and Siam (Thailand) are essential to the Chinese economy, and it is clear geographically and politically that Thailand must go as Indo-China goes.

The element of "face" in this complex, is enormous, for the Chinese are an intensely nationalistic people, believing that their long history is evidence of superior qualities. They do not, in their own language, speak of their country as China but as Chung Hua, the Middle Kingdom, the center of the universe. Repressed by the Western powers since 1842, after they lost the Opium War, as it is called, they never gave up the fight for full independence.

This independence they have at last achieved, as regards the West but not as regards Soviet Russia, because, from every Asiatic standpoint, they have won the Korean War, won it fighting not only the mightiest of Western powers, the United States, but 15 other countries that moved into the fray as part of the United Nations.

I am speaking now strictly from an Asiatic standpoint. I recall my many conversations with Sun Yat-sen, the founder of modern China, whose memory is deified by Nationalist and Communist alike. There were years when I was with him nearly daily and often he would put a large map of Asia on his study floor and point to the areas that once were China and these, he always said, would be restored to China. Two of them, Tibet and part of Korea, have already been restored.

The intensive nationalism of the Chinese has never been understood by Western peoples, although the evidence is clear and abiding. On May 4, 1919, for instance, the students of Shanghai and Peking, from the elementary schools to the colleges, decided that the Paris Treaty should not be signed because it gave Shanghai to the Japanese. Soon all schools, then all factories and shops and places of amusement in China were closed.

This was a total expression by the Chinese people of the nationalism of a race and a culture. To most Westerners in China, it was only a hell-raising excitement started by some children. One of those was Mao Tze-tung, who shall from this moment on proclaim himself as the Chinese who defeated the United States. In Asia, he will be believed.

Gustav Adolf VI of Sweden was heir to the throne for a period of 68 years. It is believed that he had the longest wait of any European king to succeed to the throne of his country.

Clark Gable's want ad: "I'm looking for a woman who has brains, beauty, breeding and a good sense of humor." . . . (Verily, I'll tell her when she comes in). . . . J. Edgar Hoover is checking West Coast field offices. Next stop after the Ambassador, L. A., will be Scripps Hospital (La Jolla, Calif.) for his annual check-over. . . . Johnnie Ray fractured all records at Atlantic City's Steel Pier. Did nine shows for 30,000 admissions daily. . . . The Mickey Spillane-type ballet in "The Band Wagon" movie is tops in the imaginative toe-and-heel diversion. . . . The current 1-2 box-office champs are such shockers as "It Came From Outer Space" and "The Beast From 20,000 Fathoms". . . . The La Jolla Hotel (La Jolla, Calif.) is the town's newest. The rendezvous for the celebs. Especially the Den, a cozy romantic bar. . . . There will be a big campaign in the Fall to push some of the favorite kid programs off the air. The charge will be too much violence, too morose. . . . One of the attacked shows will be "Howdy-Doody". The Maharajah of Coeh Beach is chasing a showgirl, Maria. . . . Bruce all over London. . . . Bela Darvi (Zanuck's import from Europe) will be seen in "Hell and High Water" starring Richard Widmark. She shelved 20 pounds to compete with Hollywood's loveliest lookers. . . . Variety reports that Arthur Sulzberger (of the N. Y. Times) in a college address suggested "All ex-Communists be granted amnesty if they left the Communist Party before 1948". . . . This (adds Variety) is a well-meaning proposal but it does not contain an understanding of the Communists. Variety then reprinted part of an editorial from the Yonkers (NY) Statesman, to wit: "One cannot measure the extent of reformation by any specific date. For some who have honestly renounced Communism and all its works the process was slow. . . . We contend that the sincerity of reformation is not in the date of conversion but, instead, is in the degree. What did the ex-Communist do after he left the party?" . . . Mr. Wechsler, the witness is yours.

The N. Y. Times must be changing. It refused to run an ad for a new show because it contained a quote (from us) about its emphasis on sex. . . . But the other morning that newspaper accepted an advert for a film with extraordinary sex appeal. It also used (in the ad) a photo of a prostitute, an unwed preggy girl and a mistress. . . . Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

If you want to get a good idea whether times are good or bad, whether the world is running smoothly or whether it is in danger of being blown to smithereens, look at your newspaper.

Whenever you see the so-called optimistic optimism rampant on front page or getting plenty of space on other pages that is a good sign.

But whenever all the headlines spell out T-T-O-O-B-L-E, that's bad. You may as well go back to bed and take another snooze.

For a day or so it seemed that things MUST be getting better. There wasn't a single line about Russia on the front page except one item that the Russian chess team, which was supposed to come over here to play in an international tournament, suited in Paris after canceling its passage. It seems that our State Department wouldn't give a permit to stay at Vishinsky's Long Island estate.

But there was an item on the front page that a Marine who traveled miles and miles to marry his sweetheart found that she had become engaged to another fellow while he was away.

Another item was about a sergeant on the Hickam Air Force Base collecting $9 from nine snafuets in rapid order.

There is an old custom that every new lieutenant must pay a dollar for his first salute to the enlisted man who does the saluting.

Such stories are very unimportant news, but they are good news.

They tend to prove that slowly—very slowly—we could be creeping back to normal again.

No human being can stand a temperature of 105 very long. Eventually he will crack.

Nor can any human being stand constant worry and excitement very long. He will either go crazy or just give up the ghost.

I hope that we have reached the turn-around point just before it is too late.

Did you notice how irritable people have gotten to be the past few months?

Did you notice how clerks in the stores and other people, who are supposed to "serve you with a smile" snap and bark at you? . . . When people get to be that way, it's a sure sign that they have a high temperature and are near the breaking point.

So I am tickled to death that my paper gives a long editorial to Penelope, the platypus, who might give birth to what is hoped will be two offspring.

I am equally tickled that some fellows climbed Mt. Everest and found nothing there.

I am overjoyed that some spelunkers crawled into a cave and discovered just what they had expected to discover: a lot of water and rocks.

Those are little things that we all understand. Those are things the little human mind can grasp much better than involved international politics and the machinations of so-called statesmen.

If the human brain were made of rubber, that would be one thing. It could stretch to the size of world-shaking happenings.

But since it is made of much less elastic materials, we may as well confine it to platypuses, spelunkers and mountain climbers.

A former Washington writer, before transfer to New York, explained how he avoided getting parking tickets for leaving his car in forbidden zones. He just put this printed note behind a windshield wiper: "Please note this is government property. All tickets, therefore, must have nine duplicates, be notarized, and bear an autographed photograph of the officer registering the complaint."

Old Man Bevin, 77, confessed to a friend, "Every morning, when I wake up, I turn anxiously to the old column of my newspaper. If my name isn't there, I get dressed."

Gary Moore arrived to do his TV show one evening with a splendid black eye. His explanation—entirely credible—was that he had introduced a Marine to Marilyn Monroe and—neglected to step out of the way quickly enough.

Four Principal Objectives Of Tuberculosis Society Outlined By Mrs. Fleming

Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary of the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society, explained the field covered by the organization at the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club meeting yesterday afternoon at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Max D. Stadfield, a member of the board of directors of the society, was program chairman and presented the speaker.

Mrs. Fleming declared the work was not "glamorous, but interesting" in her introductory remarks and told that the state of Pennsylvania pioneered in the work, the first organization having been formed in Philadelphia in 1892. From that start, the unit grew to a national movement. There are now 72 organizations in this state, she said.

The movement had its inception in Monroe County in 1919 and while not so much progress was made in the early years, more recently a more thorough organization was developed until at present a wide field of endeavor is covered.

Mrs. Fleming gave the four principal objectives covered, first of which is "Education," which she said is a basic function of every voluntary tuberculosis organization. In this connection she told of the methods employed and recommended the cooperation of The Daily Record and radio station WVPO.

"Public Health" was another of the objectives in which efforts are made to be of assistance to the community which plays an important part in tuberculosis control and prevention. In this connection, the tremendous value of the X-ray campaigns conducted and importance of followups were emphasized.

One of the very important functions is that of "Rehabilitation," still much in its infancy here. Not too much has been accomplished along this line, but the subject is being carefully studied, Mrs. Fleming said.

She pointed out how patients who have been confined to hospitals or sanatoria for long periods are benefited when they are able to take a job and can become a part of the community.

Then, topping all was the "seal sale" conducted annually which provides the funds which make possible operation of the local society. The sale last year providing funds for the present year was a fine success, Mrs. Fleming said, when a total of $8,278.23 was received.

The great amount of work required to put the Seal Sale over was emphasized by the speaker who commended the Girl Scouts, Cubs and Brownies, Graduate Society who cheerfully put in many hours addressing the mass of envelopes, folding seals and then the final stuffing of envelopes by elder persons.

While all amounts are welcomed, contributors of $5 and over are designated bond holders and there were 263 in that class in the last campaign.

Cooperation with physicians is carried out also. While the tuberculosis situation in the county is good at present, it can step up any time, Mrs. Fleming said, all of which required careful surveys of the health situation.

The local branch meets much of the expense of X-rays, still lack of sufficient funds makes it impossible to cover all of it, she said. While the appearance of the X-ray mobile is hailed by throngs of people, still some fail to follow up after reports are received. The cooperation of hotels and resorts in having food handlers X-rayed was brought out for which a one dollar charge is made.

In her concluding remarks, Mrs. Fleming smilingly declared: "The job is tremendous, but I love it."

President Parke W. Kunkle on behalf of the club congratulated Harry Sutton, new granddaddy, and Frank S. LaBar, a newlywed.

Robert R. Hellmann, chairman, announced a dance for the club would be held at The Campus, Bushkill, Friday night, August 21. Indications pointed to a fine response.

Robert O. Schell conducted the singing with Johnny Eaton at the piano.

These visiting Kiwanians were welcomed: Jim Mangin, Highland Park, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Ray D. Riley, Westminster, Md.; Harold O. Bates, Elizabeth, N. J.; Oscar del Giudice, Rockville Center, N. Y.; and Charles P. Hanier, Hammononton, N. J.

Other guests welcomed were Eric J. Monaghan, Devil's Hole; H. L. Keiper Jr., Stroudsburg; and E. W. Brown, Huntington, Ind.

Gives Up Dole Rather Than Lose Weight

Providence, R. I. (AP) — A woman ordered by a Superior Court judge to lose weight or give up workmen's compensation decided yesterday to give up the compensation.

Through her attorney, Mrs. Filomena C. Skinner, 29, announced she will not attempt to lose the 35 pounds Judge Fred B. Perkins ordered her to take off in the next 10 weeks.

During a hearing before Judge Perkins testimony was given that Mrs. Skinner's weight went from 155 to 275 pounds during a period of disability after a fall in a textile plant five years ago.

Judge Perkins declared, "It is the duty of the employee drastically to reduce her weight or to regard the continuance of such obesity as a luxury taking her out of the realm of employment for reasons unconnected with her original injury."

Bills Meet Opposition

Other bills: Require approval of the State Public Instruction Department before school districts can declare half-day sessions due to crowded conditions;

Permit school directors, in filling vacancies, to make appointments for remainder of the unexpired term instead of until the next municipal election;

Authorize county school boards to set up special classes or schools for handicapped children. This means that Monroe County school directors could, if they so desired, establish a school for blind, cerebral palsy or hard-of-hearing children similar to the Day Care School already in operation in East Stroudsburg.

The school board would be authorized to charge a maximum $200 per year tuition for each child educated in the school, payable by the district under whose jurisdiction the child lives.

Certain costs over and above that $200 yearly fee per child, would be paid by the State, according to the law.

STIRRING PATRIOTIC SONG is sung by some of the Blue Mountain campers, counselors and officials who took part in the Peace Ball program organized in celebration of the cessation of fighting in Korea. (Daily Record Photo)

Blue Mountain Camp Celebrates Signing Of Armistice

America's feeling about the halt of fighting in Korea was reflected in miniature at a ceremony in the hills northeast of East Stroudsburg.

It was an unlikely setting for such solemnity.

A tennis court under open night sky and washed by Pocono winds was the scene. Surrounding the court were bleachers filled with attentive young Blue Mountain campers.

Many have brothers with the U. N. forces in Korea. They and the others watched the center of the tennis court where Master of Ceremonies Morton Shrager stood at a microphone.

The program was started by three junior boys—Dan and Mark Esterman and Jan Blits—dressed as the traditional "Spirit of '76". They carried the American flag to the speaker's area.

With Sol W. Diamond leading as Boys' Camp director, the girls and boys gave a firm pledge of allegiance and sang the Star Spangled Banner.

"These flags . . ." one counselor told the youngsters, "are not the real flags of countries, but just imagine they are." The youngsters looked at the bright-colored flags and pennants decorating the high fence of the tennis courts. "That's how many nations took part in the fighting for freedom in Korea, as part of the United Nations forces."

After the counselor finished his brief, quiet talk, a trumpet solo, "The Prayer of Peace," was played by camp bugler, Earl Epstein. The Lord's Prayer followed, with the master of ceremonies reading the words softly to the accompaniment of the muted trumpet strains.

Chief talk was by Morris J.

Escoll, who founded the camps with his wife 33 years ago.

Escoll talked of the harshness and horror of war, the thankfulness of men everywhere that the fighting has ceased.

He mentioned how the campers ran outside to greet the arrival of one girl's pilot-father, winging low over the camp in salute. Then Escoll contrasted this with the reaction of some Korean tots who ran in fear when shown a toy model of a plane.

He urged his young listeners to rejoice in the peace, but at the same time to remember the sacrifice of those who have died. Speaking of the polyglot jargon of U. N. troops in Korea, the variety of skin color, customs and religions among the troops all enlisted in a common cause, he told the campers, "they are all flesh of our flesh, blood of our blood. They are all human."

"Thank God peace is here," he said, but added that the sorrow and suffering of the millions in Korea should be remembered.

Campers wound up by singing the song of the United Nations and the Alma Mater. There was a minute of silence in memory of U. N. troops who will never return. "The House I Live In," was sung by Clark Dunham. And on the program was an address by David Shrager, a waiter at the camp and president of the Debating League of Philadelphia. He talked on "The U. N. and World Peace."

The same program was repeated for senior campers after the junior program was finished and the youngsters bundled off to prepare for bed.

After the solemn ceremonies, the mood of gaiety took over. It was not only a memorial. It was also a celebration of the truce signing.

The celebrating took the form of a "Peace Ball" for the seniors and counselors with music provided by the camp orchestra, a professional ensemble from Philadelphia which provides music for social functions at the camps.

Active in organizing the program and related camp activities were:

Escoll, director of the camps (two units for boys and two for girls) since he founded them. He is a former instructor in biology and English at the National Farm School, Doylestown, and did forestry research in the Wisconsin North Woods. Mr. Escoll also serves as lecturer in science at the Milwaukee Public Museum in Wisconsin, reportedly the largest municipal museum in the nation.

Mrs. Escoll, co-founder and director since the camp was organized. She is an accredited high school teacher of English and French, and a graduate of University of Pennsylvania, where four of her five children have also completed their studies.

Samuel I. Foreman, administrative director who has been with the camps more than 28 years. He is a graduate of University of Pennsylvania and Temple Law School and graduate school. He has a B. S. and M. S. in education and an L.L.B. degree. He is a member of the Philadelphia Bar, Philadelphia high school teacher and an accredited principal.

Morris S. Miller, girls' camp director, who has been with Blue Mountain 19 years. He was graduated from Pennsylvania and Temple Universities with a Master's degree in education. He was for many years a principal in a Philadelphia elementary school.

Sol W. Diamond, boys camp director, has been with the organization 12 years, is a Temple graduate with an M. S. in education and is principal of a Philadelphia elementary school.

Other staff members for the current season include: Harold Zastrow, head counselor, boys' senior camp in his 15th year at the camp; Nancy Zastrow, head counselor, girls' senior camp, in her 15th year; Joseph Shutter, head counselor, boys' junior camp, 10th year at BMC; Edith Eckstein, head counselor, girls' junior camp, sixth year; Mrs. Morris Miller, with BMC 19 years; Faith Chinitz, assistant head counselor at girls' senior camp for two years; Lillian Shmielefsky, assistant head counselor, girls' junior camp; Dan Belsky, assistant head counselor, boys' senior camp.

Joseph Schwartz, assistant head counselor, boys' junior camp; Allen Steinberg, assistant head counselor, boys' senior camp; Dr. Harriet Jones, physician at the girls' camp; Dr. Henry Sangree, boys' camp physician; Mrs. Dora Harris, R. N., boys' camp nurse; Mrs. Laurie J. Budwig, boys' camp nurse; and widow of a Korean War casualty; Miss Joe Vetterloo, and Mrs. Alice Reid, R. N., girls' camp nurses; Saul Rossien, camp teacher; Ruth Gordon, head of ceramics at girls' camp, in her ninth year with BMC; Larry Sperling, head of girls' camp athletics; and Doris Sperling, arts and crafts head at girls' camp.

State Notes Increase In Motor Crashes

There were 126,820 traffic accidents reported on Pennsylvania highways in 1952.

According to the Bureau of Highway Safety, Harrisburg, this was a 3 percent increase over the preceding year.

There were two percent more accidents in rural areas while urban accidents were increased by 3 percent.

Despite the increase, the number of fatal accidents dropped two percent in the State as a whole, the Bureau says. Rural areas had 4 percent more fatalities; urban areas had 11 percent less.

There were 45,573 accidents in rural areas; 81,247 in urban districts. Of these 958 rural accidents were "fatal" while only 512 of the urban accidents were classified as "fatal."

A total of 1,131 persons were killed in rural accidents. Urban accidents accounted for only 540 deaths.

The tables were reversed in the "injured" category. Rural accidents brought injuries to only 29,093. Urban accidents injured 38,041.

More pedestrians were killed or injured in urban accidents, however. Bureau statistics show 217 pedestrians were killed and 1,122 injured in rural areas. Urban accidents killed 314 pedestrians and injured another 8,474.

Most Accidents Occur During Three-Hour Period In Late Afternoon, Bureau Reports

You're taking a bigger gamble with your automobile and your life if you travel between 3 and 6 p. m. than at any other time of day.

Bureau of Highway Safety figures, released by the Harrisburg office, show that 22 per cent of all traffic accidents occur between those hours.

According to the bureau, a total 8,089 accidents occurred between 3 and 6 p. m.

Total accidents between 3 and 6 p. m.—28,237. Nearly 300 persons lost their lives in those accidents, the bureau says.

Another 14,500 persons were injured in the same wrecks.

Still citing bureau statistics, "the safest hours of travel" in Pennsylvania seem to be between 3 and 7 a. m. in urban centers and from 3 a. m. to 1 p. m. in rural areas.

Lowest "accident occurrence" hour on a State-wide level during 1952 was from 5 to 6 a. m. when only 1,422 wrecks occurred.

Highest "accident occurrence" hour across the State was from 4 to 5 p. m. with 10,263 wrecks occurring.

More people have accidents on Saturday than any other day of the week, records show.

Says the bureau:

24,201 accidents occurred on Saturday in 1952.

325 of them killed one or more passengers or pedestrians.

8,539 were "non-fatal," meaning nobody got killed.

15,337 resulted only in "property damages."

Running a close second to Saturday during 1952 was "the day of rest."

Sunday accidents numbered 19,627 of which 233 were "fatal"; 7,227 were "non-fatal" and 12,161 were property damage wrecks.

Friday accidents followed close behind Sunday with 18,130 during the year. There were 16,825 on Monday; 15,615 on Tuesday; 16,090 on Wednesday and 16,323 on Thursdays.

Weekend accidents accounted for more than one-third of the total.

Fine Strives To Play Down Sales Tax Fear

Harrisburg, (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine said Pennsylvanians will become "accustomed" to the new 1 per cent sales tax when it goes into effect Sept. 1.

"Now that we have the sales tax I am convinced you are not going to find it burdensome," he said. "I concede there will be some annoyance."

He said the small wage-earner—one who earns about $2,000 a year—will pay out less than $2 a year. People in the $10,000 a year bracket, he said, will pay about $21.05 a year.

"I have faith in those estimates," the governor added. "I ask you not to be alarmed by the propagandists who are so urgently seeking to instill sales tax fear in each of you."

Fine made the estimates in recalling the accomplishments of his administration during the 1953 Legislature which adjourned earlier in the day.

"Some of these accomplishments were helped by Democratic legislative votes," he said. "Sometimes my own party members needed prodding. But they came through for the most part."

He said after 2½ years in office "the bequest of my administration will be healthier and sounder than my inheritance."

U. S. Sen. James H. Duff preceded Fine in office.

The governor said he "deplored with all the forces at my command" the failure of the Republican-dominated Legislature to adopt his recommendation to ban discrimination in employment or union membership because of race, creed, color or national origin.

The first thing most people who first reach America at New York see from a ship's deck is not the Statue of Liberty, but the parachute jump tower at Coney Island.

WHAT MAKES a wall-eyed pike "wall-eyed"? Possible answer to that question is demonstrated here by Miss Dottie Brouvier who has just landed a big one from the waters of Lake Wallenpaupack. She's a competitor in annual contests at the lake.

The office of Dr. Harold S. Pond will close for vacation on July 18 and will reopen August 3.—Adv.

Mrs. Steed Wins Pike Club Contest

Mrs. H. Steed, Nazareth, won the annual Pennsylvania Pike Club run at Lake Wallenpaupack.

It was Mrs. Steed's second championship win in the fishing run.

Now in progress at the lake is the annual "fishing contest" to find the largest fish caught in the lake during the summer.

Contestants pick up entry blanks at Pep's Inn near the lake, enter the size and weight of their largest catch in the competition. The contest stays open until Oct. 4. Prizes will be awarded during the Fall color festival at the lake.

Trophies will be awarded for prize catch in each of the following species: walleye pike, pickerel, yellow perch, largemouth bass, smallmouth bass, and bluegills. Special prizes are given for

Ceremonies Scheduled At Camp

Approximately 1,000 persons are expected to attend ceremonies Sunday at the Golden Slipper Square Club Camp at Bartonsville.

Dr. Abram L. Sacher, president of Brandeis University, will be the principal speaker.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the Blum Amphitheatre will be one of the highlights of the day's program. Participating in the ceremonies will be Dr. Sacher and Mayor I. Blum, and his sons, Jerome, Marvin and Bennett Blum, donors of the amphitheatre. Recreation Commissioner Frederic R. Mann, who is also president of the Robin Hood Dell, will act as chairman of the ceremonies.

Five other areas of the camp will be dedicated.

Rabbi Samuel Penner, of Temple Beth Israel, will dedicate the Herbach Infirmary, named in memory of Captain M. Herbach and Major Joseph D. Herbach, World War II heroes. The two veterans were the sons of Samuel Herbach, one of the first presidents of the club.

Rabbi Seymour M. Rosen, of Temple Emeth Shalom, Margate, N. J., will dedicate the Joseph Dubinsky Recreation Area, the Rosenberg Cabin, the Violet Ruth Strauss Building and the Max Slepian Recreation Area.

The Joseph Dubinsky Recreation Area was named in memory of one of the past presidents who died recently.

The Rosenberg Cabin honors Judah and Rana Rosenberg, Judah, known as "Dodie," has been secretary of the club since its inception.

The Violet Ruth Strauss Building was named in memory of the wife of Maurice Strauss, pioneer member of the club. The building will be used for arts, crafts and nature study.

The Max Slepian Recreation Area was named in honor of the Philadelphia hero of three wars and a leader in the local Jewish Community. Slepian, a former past president of the group, was killed about a year ago in an automobile accident.

After the completion of the program a tour and inspection of the camp site will be made.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

You should be a good housekeeper all of the time or else not bother at all, in my conclusion. The hardest person in the world to live with is the spasmodic cleaner.

A good housekeeper may grumble a bit about dirt tracked in, but she vacuums every day anyway and automatically wipes the finger-prints off the woodwork each week. A poor housekeeper doesn't mind a few finger-prints, more or less, anyway.

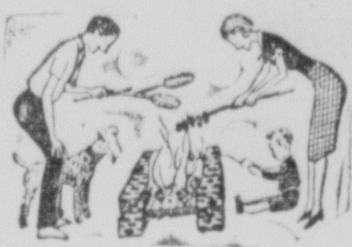

But the housewife who suddenly decides to do something about the mess she's allowed to accumulate, she's a Tartar. In the first place she's so tired from over-doing this work business that she's cranky to begin with.

Then every time anybody leans against the clean white paint, everytime anybody starts opening a newly rearranged cupboard, she has fits. And everytime the door opens and the dogs and the cat come piling in as usual she starts wailing "But I just vacuumed."

The only solution I can see is to have the whole family move out and leave the clean house in undisturbed splendor until the dust has settled a little and the first shine is off the varnish.

It's sort of like the new car. Never really feel comfortable about driving it until the first dent, with all its heart-burning and self-reproach, is finally accepted.

One of the most useful small gifts you can give a bride is a roast meat thermometer. Such a thermometer is an accurate guide, and with it meat may be roasted to the exact degree of doneness desired. The face of the thermometer will show exactly what the temperature of the meat is inside.

For ordinary cleaning, oil-cloth should be wiped with a damp cloth or washed with mild soapuds. If it needs scouring, it's best to use a grit-free cleaning powder. If the oilcloth has stains, lemon juice or vinegar may remove them.

For a quick cheese sauce, heat a tall can of undiluted evaporated milk over hot water; add a half pound of grated cheddar cheese; stir often until melted and smooth. Serve over cooked garden vegetables and crisp toast.

War Of The Hemlines Being Waged At 38 Centimeters

Paris, (AP)—Elsa Schiaparelli, one of the top Paris fashion designers, defied the Dior edict for short skirts yesterday. She showed dresses lengthened to about 13 inches from the floor.

This fashion center took Dior's innovation calmly, but one French writer observed that "the war of length is being now fought on 38 centimeters (about 15 inches) as the Korean was fought on the 38th Parallel."

"A new Parisian girl is born at Christian Dior," the writer added. "She is small, sort of chubby and shows her calves."

While no other Paris house has yet gone to the Dior extreme, shorter skirts seem to be the coming thing.

Jacques Fath has shortened his hemlines by nearly two inches to a level of 14 inches.

Jean Desses has followed the same trend. But Jacques Heim and Schiaparelli have put out new dresses that show no more leg than those of last year.

Some old touches in Schiaparelli's clothes included hats like lacquered Japanese hairdos, and multiple-strung necklaces worn

Mrs. Mengle Celebrates 94th Birthday

Saylorsburg — Mrs. Harriet Mengle, who makes her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Van Buskirk, observed her 94th birthday anniversary on Monday, July 27. The celebration really started Sunday, when her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Koltz, Allentown, were dinner guests, bringing a large birthday cake. Mrs. Charles Conrad and son David, of Ogdenburg, N. J., came Monday and were dinner guests bringing her gifts. After dinner, Rev. and Mrs. Adnan Bohner and Mrs. Bohner's mother, Mrs. May Goldman, Kunkletown, called.

Mrs. Mengle received several bouquets of flowers and candy and many greetings from relatives, friends and neighbors, who did not call.

Joint Session Held By Two Lions Clubs

Portland — Lions clubs of East Bangor and Stroudsburg met in joint session Tuesday night in Otto's Grandview restaurant near town. President George D. Reagle of the first named group presided.

He introduced President William Hinton of the Stroudsburg club. Chairman Seymour Katz of the rodeo committee called on Myron Zateeny for a report.

The latter stated that the attraction to be presented is the Cherokee-Oklahoma Rodeo, one of the leading groups in that line. It will be a three-day show, August 26 to 28 at the Stroudsburg Speedway.

Zateeny emphasized that the success of this event must be outstanding, as it is meant to finance the charitable work of the club for the year. The speaker paid tribute to Tom Garbar for courtesies in connection with providing use of the speedway.

He announced that 3,000 copies of a program booklet will be issued. All members were urged to work on the sale of advertising space in this booklet.

The speaker, Prof. Willard F. Mullins of Penn State College, had been secured by the East Bangor club. His talk dwelt on the state industry.

He said the slate industry, once highly prosperous over a very wide area of his part of the country, stands today in need of a renaissance, and if such can be developed it should regain its former leading position. Prof. Mullins gave an interesting account of old days in the slate line. To develop the business to its former prestige he cited the need of advertising and customer service.

He claimed that in times past, price cutting had been a difficulty affecting the industry. Cost of production also presented difficulties. Competition from other products, such as plastics must be considered today, he pointed out. He also touched on costs of production.

However, it is still true that slate is an established product and has many, many uses. All slate products last a long time, he noted.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Chief topic of conversation in Stroudsburg at the present time concerns the fact that Sam Russell has resigned as head basketball coach at Stroudsburg High and has accepted a similar position at Wilkes-Barre. This means that the very likeable Russell has shifted to the Lehigh Valley League to the Lehigh-Northampton League. Carlton Berger, who served as assistant basketball coach for the past two seasons and assistant grid mentor last year, has also moved to Wilkes-Barre.

Final phases of the transaction moved so swiftly that everyone was caught by surprise, including the two men who were involved. Russell will serve as head basketball mentor once again and teach history, while Berger again handles the assistant court job and takes over the position of head baseball coach. Both men accepted increases in salary over that received at the W. Main St. school, and each is scheduled to take over his new position on the opening day of the 1953-1954 school year.

Russell will be missed by every basketball fan in Stroudsburg and by every youngster who has ever had any connection with the lanky Lafayette grad. The former Lower Merion resident has that wonderful quality of being a good coach and a young man capable of giving advice equal to that of a person many years his senior. Although the past two Stroudsburg High cage machines failed to make history through their number of victories, it is only right to point out that both were well coached, but were short on the material needed to insure basketball victories. The clubs were particularly short on good replacements during the past two campaigns.

Sam's work as a teacher has drawn praise from students in all grades. He founded the Maroon Key Club and was a major factor in the development of the scholastic Varsity "B" club. Russell was always intensely interested in the football and baseball teams at the W. Main St. school, although he didn't coach either squad. Even above coaching, Sam probably receives his biggest satisfaction from helping a kid and seeing that a youngster get every break in life that he deserves. Although the phrase may sound corny, Russell certainly moulded great character while coach at Stroudsburg High.

This column wishes Russell and Berger the best luck possible in their new positions, as do all their friends in the Stroudsburg area. Stroudsburg's loss in certainly Wilkes-Borough's gain. Berger is currently attending summer classes at Lehigh with Eddie Snyder, former Wilson cage mentor who recently resigned to take a position on the Eastern High faculty. It was also learned yesterday that Berger expects to become a proud papa for the first time in the near future.

Thursday, August 6 has been listed as the date for the hearing that may or may not force the Barrett Little League Association to halt construction of its new Little League field. Two people in the Mountain-home area don't want to see a new baseball field constructed in that area. The Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs will see the Yankees and White Sox play on Friday, August 7. All players in the circuit will make the trip as a group. Another group from Line Material will see the same two clubs battle on Sunday, August 9.

The Monroe County Softball League will probably operate every Friday for the balance of the campaign. The Mount Pocono entry in the Pocono Mountains Little League failed to register an assist in Tuesday's game with Barrett Rotary at Pocono Manor. The Mount Pocono catcher was credited with 15 putouts, as the result of as many strikeouts, while the other three outs came about on two pop flies and a fly to the outfield. The circuit plays only six-inning games. Lloyd "Sonny" Woodling, Redders resident, has returned home from Union City, Tenn., where he was pitching in the Brooklyn Dodger farm system.

Woodling, currently a student at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, expects to enter the Army in the near future. "Sonny" is a former Pocono High basketball and baseball star, and has pitched for the ESSTC diamond squad for the past two campaigns. Don't forget the comedy baseball game to be staged by the East Stroudsburg Little League tonight, at the circuit's official field. The circuit can certainly use your support. Following last night's benefit dance, the Barrett Little League Association has something like $1,000 in its treasury.

Art Wall, the long-ball hitting pro currently carrying the Pocono Manor name against the best golfers in the business, will appear in the All-American Golf Tournament in Chicago. Other golfers from nearby points playing in the All-American are Bob Schoener, Jr., Allentown and Johnny Kufos, Bethlehem. Al Besselink, who played at Shawnee regularly when a member of the amateur ranks, will also be in the All-American. Besselink is now a professional at Merchantville, N. J.

Pocono

Game Halted Because Of Darkness

Bangor—Pocono A. C. kept its slim playoff hopes alive last night by battling Roseto to a 6-6 tie in a Blue Mountain League baseball contest played here at Memorial Park. The contest went five innings and was halted by darkness with the score deadlocked.

Pocono A. C. is currently fighting to move from its present fifth place spot to fourth place, a position needed to take part in the post-season series.

Tom Foley was on the hill for Pocono A. C. during last night's contest, and his work prevented Roseto from breaking its current first place deadlock with Martins Creek.

Martins Creek plays an important contest at Tannery today, beginning at 6:15 p. m.

No Date
No date has been set for re-playing last night's contest. The game will probably be played after the regular season schedule comes to an end next week.

Pocono A. C. still has a game to make up with Johnsonville. The highlight of last night's battle came in the fourth inning when Dick Pittard, Roseto shortstop, walked, then stole second, third and home with the tying run.

Acc Registered On Shawnee 16th
Shawnee-on-Delaware — Kenny Korneide, a waiter here at Shawnee Inn, made a hole-in-one on the 16th hole of the Shawnee course yesterday.

Eight Iron
Korneide blasted the ball into the cup with an eight-iron on the 135-yard 16th hole. The shot carried over a portion of the Delaware River.

The ace artist was playing with Dick DeSanto, also employed at Shawnee Inn. DeSanto shot a 78 and Korneide an 82.

Pirates Bench Ward, Hermanski

St. Louis, (AP) — Manager Fred Haney of the Pittsburgh Pirates said yesterday that outfielder Gene Hermanski and first baseman Preston Ward, obtained in a big trade with the Chicago Cubs a few weeks ago, will ride the bench until further notice.

Disappointed
Haney mumbled no words as he expressed keen disappointment over the play of both men.

Fiore Upsets 'Upset Kid'

A crushing right to the body crumpled Giovannelli just before the final bell as his 13-fight win streak ended. Giovannelli weighed 145½, Fiore 146.

Fiore shook up the 21-year-old conqueror of Vinnie Martinez almost every time he lunged in to drive home his hook. Giovannelli, whose string of 13 straight included some notable upsets, simply could not cope with the strength and hitting power of his more experienced opponent.

Trouble
Danny Boy would have been in bad trouble if the bell hadn't sounded almost as Fiore drove home the thumping left hook in the eighth. Referee Al Bert continued to count, not hearing the bell. Freddie Brown, Giovannelli's corner man rushed to mid-ring to drag his man to the corner. Officially the count was one.

Little Bigger League Game Winds Up On Note Of Discord

A dispute and darkness raised havoc with last night's Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs baseball game between Monroe Silk and International Boiler Works at Gordon Giffels field.

Monroe Silk held an 8-1 lead when the game was halted by umpire Pete Gorant, with two outs for IBW in the home half of the fifth inning.

Not Official
One out was still needed to make the contest official.

A meeting has been called by Gene Martin, league president, and all circuit managers for tonight. The meeting has been called to deal with alleged stalling tactics by IBW in last night's encounter.

No game will be played in the league tonight but Line Material and Monroe Silk clash at Giffels field tomorrow night and Wortham Mower and Barrett battle on the Barrett High field in Canadensis on Saturday afternoon.

Henryville Cagers Roll Over Tanagero
Tannerville—A brilliant shooting demonstration by Dick Owens here last night carried the Henryville home to an easy Summer basketball victory over Camp Tanagero, on the latter's home court.

Henryville held the upper hand from start to finish as all eight members of the club broke into the scoring column for at least three points.

Advantages
The winning aggregation led 19-15 at the end of the first quarter and 32-27 at the halfway mark. Henryville continued to dominate play in the third quarter, 30-20, and then put the contest on ice with a 24-13 edge in the final stanza.

Gene Caskie and Owens led the way in the scoring column for Henryville with 18 tallies. Bill Meis, brilliant in defeat, totaled 23 markers for Camp Tanagero.

Williams Inks Contract For Two Campaigns

By Bill King

Boston, (AP) Visually as physically fit as when he batted .406 back in 1941, Ted Williams rejoined the Boston Red Sox yesterday by signing a contract that extends through the 1954 season.

"It's a military secret," joshed general manager Joe Cronin when asked if owner Tom Yawkey had resumed his dealings with Williams on a six-figure salary basis.

Before Ted left the Sox for his Korean War hitch as a Marine, his salary was estimated as high as $124,000 annually. Guesses yesterday were that "The Splendid Splinter" might get as much as $40,000 for the remainder of 1953 and perhaps $90,000 for all of 1954.

Ted, about 10 pounds overweight at 210 and since 1 left baseball almost 15 months ago, I've batted only once and I've not been able to do much running to keep my legs in shape," he explained.

Idea
Just to give you an idea of how I'm feeling, I picked up a bat at the All-Star game two weeks ago and I thought it was unusually heavy. I was surprised when I swung and it was only a 33-ounce, I used to start spring training with a 36er and then gradually drop down to 33 about mid-season."

Williams plans to follow a rigid conditioning schedule, taking lengthy batting drills before and after Red Sox games.

"I'm not going to bat with the other players until I can really swing the ball," he explained. "The team is doing very well now and I'm not going to do anything that would interfere with it or disrupt the players."

Considered by all club officials to be the best judge of his own physical condition, Williams estimated it would take at least three weeks to get into actual playing shape.

"But then I might be able to do some pinch hitting in about 10 days," he said hopefully.

contest was played on the circuit's official field.

The Bankers picked up five runs in the first inning and held the upper hand the remainder of the distance.

Seven runs in the fourth frame were the high single-inning output of the game, as the Bankers were never in danger of losing.

The Methodists, who committed a total of 11 errors, picked up three tallies in the second and one in the fifth.

No official East Stroudsburg Little League game is on tap today.
